EDITOR'S NOTE

When I wrote my last editorial to you, I did not know there were some wonderful things going on behind the scenes. My friend, Bob Menchel called me the day after he saw the editorial about my dismay over the open-captioned movies not being shown anymore at the Little Theatre. He wanted to assure me that "someone is doing something about it." So you may be as surprised as I was, and happy to hear that open-captioned movies will continue for the members of the Rochester Deaf community. A movie ad appears in this issue about October and November showings. Many thanks go to Menchel and Ron Barone of Cinema Theatres for making this possible!

A huge thanks also go to Silent News, Inc. for the wonderful support they have given to Deaf Rochester News. They sent us a very generous check from the unfinished work they left with the old Deaf Rochester magazine when they moved away from Rochester. The office equipment that was used for the publishing of the magazine was left here for our use. All this made it possible for us to carry on the work in keeping you, our readers, informed of activities in the Rochester community. As you may know, DRN is renting office space at the Rochester Recreation Club of the Deaf on a part-time basis. With our increasing number in subscriptions and ads, we are becoming self-supporting. Our readers have been so great sending in news articles and photos. Please keep them coming!

The Rochester Deaf Consumer Expo is coming on Saturday, October 18, and I encourage you to attend. This is a great opportunity for deaf consumers to see the newest devices, educational materials and services being offered to Deaf people. It is a first-time effort of this kind in Rochester. Kudos go to Anthony DiGiovanni, Gary Meyer, and David Staehle who made this possible, and to LS Systems, Safeco Insurance and Sprint for their sponsorship.

Don't forget to check our Community Calendar, there are many events going on this fall. The leaves will soon turn color, the weather will become brisk, and winter will be here before you know it. Enjoy the fall season!

Call for presentations for 1998 ASDC biennial convention

People who care about improving the lives and education of deaf and hard-of-hearing children are invited to submit proposals for presentations to be given at the biennial convention of the American Society for Deaf Children (ASDC), which will be held June 27-July 1, 1998, in Rochester, New York. The convention's theme is "Celebrating Deaf and Hard-of-Hearing Children in Our Home, School, and Community." Presentations, panel discussions, and workshops should be of interest to parents of deaf and hard-of-hearing children as well as those involved with various aspects of the personal, educational, and emotional welfare of families with deaf and hard-of-hearing children.

Topics can include advocacy, applied research in education, ASL research and applications, assistive technology, bilingual education, Deaf culture/studies, education in schools and at home, family dynamics, inclusion-related issues, involvement in Deaf/hearing communities, legal issues/assistance, multicultural issues, parent experiences/education programs/rights, postsecondary opportunities, sibling issues, and success stories from students and parents. Parent-related information and practical or strategic applications must be an integral part of any proposal.

ASDC, an organization of parents and families that advocates for deaf and hard-of-hearing children's total quality participation in education, the family, and the community, was founded in 1967 by a group of parents and educators seeking "a better way." ASDC supports competent use of signing and recognizes and respects Deaf culture as critical for enhancing and broadening the social, personal, and educational aspects of deaf and hard-of-hearing children's lives. ASDC also supports flexible, innovative, and effective strategies for facilitating deaf and hard-of-hearing children's participation in education, the family, and the community.

To request a proposal application form, contact Vicki T. Hurwitz, Adult Workshop Chair, Ellingoson Hall, 52 Lomb Memorial Drive, Rochester, NY 14623-5604; vthdhd@rit.edu (e-mail), (716) 475-6805 (TTY), (716) 475-6200 (voice), (716) 475-6500 (FAX).

RSD designated as Electronic Doorway Library

Rochester School for the Deaf's Learning Resources Center has been designated an Electronic Doorway Library by the School Library Systems of the Greater Rochester Region.

An electronic doorway library uses computer and telecommunications technology to assist its users by means of information retrieval and resource sharing. It is a library of any type, size or location.

“This recognition is evidence that RSD is at the forefront of learning,” said Garry Loysen, director of the school's Learning Resources Center.

“The access to information will provide our students with powerful new ways of assembling, evaluating and using information.”

First Deaf Consumer Expo in Rochester to be held October 18, 1997

The first consumer trade show designed to promote an all-inclusive environment for deaf, hard-of-hearing, and hearing patrons will be held Saturday, October 18, at the New York State Armory, 250 Weidner Road. The expo will feature vendors of assistive devices and educational materials, provides of community services, educational programs, recreational organizations, and major businesses.

Rochester, NY is home to 9,000 Deaf people and 55,000 hard-of-hearing people, all of whom have many friends and family members. The Deaf Consumer Expo is an opportunity for the Rochester community to meet deaf and hearing friends and learn more about services and equipment available for deaf and hard-of-hearing customers.

The Rochester Deaf Consumer Expo is the brainchild of Anthony DiGiovanni, and it became a reality with the encouragement of Gary Meyer and David Staehle who shared their expertise from attending various expos around the country. With the popularity of the Deaf Expo in Pomona, California, which is holding its' 5th annual event this fall, they wanted to see a similar activity planned on the East coast, so this idea was born.

To date, fifty vendors are expected at the Rochester Expo, 60% of them from outside New York State. A large percent of them will be businesses who deal with the Deaf community, while the rest will be non-profit organizations serving Deaf people.

Refreshments will on sale all day by the Rochester School for the Deaf Exchange Student Program. Evening entertainment will be provided by the Greater Rochester Recreation Association of the Deaf and the NTID Alumni Chapter of Greater Rochester.

For more information, call (716) 235-702 TTY, (716) 235-7882 FAX. Voice callers can use the New York Relay Service, (800) 421-1220, to call the TTY number.

An enthusiastic crowd of over 240 Deaf and hard of hearing women attended the Deaf Women United Sixth National Conference on July 30 - August 3 in Rochester. This event was hosted by Deaf Women of Rochester (DWR) under the leadership of Colleen Daviton, conference chair, and Mary Mowad, president of DWR. Laurene Gallimore, a Deaf Black professional from Western Oregon State College was the keynote speaker. Twenty-six Deaf women presented during two days of workshops covering topics to meet the needs of Deaf Women. Each morning started off with exercises and yoga which were well attended by bright and early morning risers. The program also included a pre-conference session on "Women and Technology"; a field trip to Senaca Falls, NY; a Silent Auction; DWU Trivia Bowl with Vicki Nordquist; Entertainment: TWAM Night Live! by Lynn Jacobowitz; and a Closing Brunch on Sunday morning. The next DWU conference will be held in San Diego in 1999.

At the opening ceremony, the Deaf Women's Signature Quilt was unveiled and introduced as the official banner for the conference. This quilt was a year-long project spearheaded by Sally Taylor, conference fundraising chair, seen at the right holding the veil. Signatures of 356 deaf and hard of hearing women were gathered as a documentation of deaf women's "herstory", and this effort brought in $4,000. The quilt provided a backdrop for casual snapshots made by the conference attendees, many of whom pointed to their names on the quilt.

A Silent Auction, led by auctioneers Marilyn Smith and MJ Bienvenu, brought in $4,000 from one hundred donated items; proceeds were split 50/50 to Deaf Women United and Deaf Women of Rochester. Items ranged from paintings and crafts made by Deaf women to Deaf publications, deaf devices, and handmade crafts donated by various businesses. Photo shows display of special items chosen for the Live Auction which concluded the biddings on Thursday afternoon. The highest piece of item was a quilt made of recycled bluejeans that sold for $500.

Keynote speaker, Laurene Gallimore of Western Oregon State College, spoke on "My Identity and Yours...Our Accomplishments!"
Dinner with Susan B. Anthony was held Thursday evening at the new Bausch & Lomb Winter Garden, located a few blocks away from the hotel. After a delicious sit-down meal, an interesting narrative program was presented by DWU Conference Chair, Colleen Daviton, assisted by Thelma Bohli who dressed as Susan B. Anthony, the women’s rights activist who lived in Rochester from 1866 until her death in 1906. Anthony was instrumental in carrying on the work for women’s rights by writing and speaking all around the country after the women’s rights amendment was proposed at Seneca Falls in 1848. The Susan B. Anthony House, where is now a museum, still stands at 17 Madison Avenue in Rochester, and a display of her works can be seen at the Rochester Science Museum on East Avenue.

At the closing ceremony on Sunday morning, the 1997 DWU Conference Chair, Colleen Daviton passed her lit candle to the 1999 DWU Conference Chair, Tina Jo Briendel who will oversee the next Deaf Women United Conference in San Diego. Soon the auditorium was filled with candlelight glow after each woman lit her candle and took her turn completing this sentence, “As a Deaf woman, I hope for...” This brought a closure to the conference theme, “Together We Accomplish More!”

New students at NTID build own computers

by Kathryn L. Schmitz, NTID

More than 10 percent of the incoming class of new students at the National Technical Institute for the Deaf started off their college careers by building their own computers. A workshop, "PC-SVP," was held over Labor Day weekend for 28 deaf and hard-of-hearing students to teach them how to assemble a personal computer from its component parts, troubleshoot common hardware problems, configure memory, upgrade computer hardware, and load operating system software and install applications software.

Two deaf faculty members, Elissa Olsen and Anthony Spiecker, and chairperson Donna Lange of NTID’s Department of Applied Computer Technology taught the workshop, held from 3:30-6:30 pm, Saturday, August 30, and 8:30 am-5 pm Sunday, August 31, and Monday, September 1, in room 1240/1290 in RIT’s Hugh Carey Building. Four students in the Applied Computer Technology program assisted in the workshop.

The computers built by the students were IBM-compatible Intel Pentium (586) personal computers running the Windows 95 operating system. Included in the computer were a 160 MHz processor, 2.1 gigabyte hard drive, 32 megabytes of random access memory, 1.4 megabyte floppy disk drive, 33.6 internal fax/modem, 15-inch .28 NI SVGA color monitor, 2 megabyte video card, 16X CD-ROM drive, and 16-bit sound card and speakers along with the keyboard, mouse, tower case, and communications software and network card for calling the RIT computer systems and the Internet from RIT’s residence halls.

The workshop was featured in the Rochester Democrat & Chronicle and on WHEC-Channel 10 and WROC Channel 8 local news, giving some good publicity for a creative educational opportunity. To Lange’s knowledge, no other college offers freshmen such an opportunity.

TAD Training Center, A Division of TAD Resources International, Inc., 158 Monroe Avenue, Rochester, NY, is offering Computer Training for the Deaf/Hearing Impaired with an Interpreter on the following dates:

PAH MD CORNER

Cold and Flu Season is Here

by Lisa Harmer and Timothy Malia, MD

1) What is “a cold”?
A “cold” is a common, mild sickness. It occurs mostly in the Fall and Winter. Signs of a cold start slowly and include sore throat, runny nose, sneezing, headache and cough. Some people have a low fever (99-101 F). Sometimes a bad cold is called a ‘flu’, but the flu is different from a “common cold.”

2) What is “the flu”?
The flu is a severe sickness. It occurs mostly in the Winter. Signs of the flu start quickly and include headache, chills, cough, body aches and fever. Later, a sore throat and congestion may start. Both a cold and the flu last for about one week. After the sickness you will be tired for another 1-2 weeks.

3) How do I treat a cold or flu?
REST, drink lots of fluids (water, juice, etc.) and use medicines to stay comfortable. Because colds and flu are caused by viruses, antibiotics do not help. You can buy medicines in a drug store to help you feel better. Acetaminophen (Tylenol) or ibuprofen (Motrin, Advil) help fever, headache and body aches. “Decongestants” lessen the stuffiness in your nose. “Cough suppressants” lessen cough.

4) When should I call the doctor?
Most people get better in about one week and do not need to visit a doctor. Call the doctor’s office if a child, an elderly person or a person with other health problems seems to have the flu. Also, call if you have a high fever (over 101 F), bad pain, if it is hard to breath or if your cough makes a lot of thick mucous that is not clear.

5) What is a “flu shot” and who should get it?
The “flu shot” is a vaccination that protects against the flu. It is given each year between October and January. The flu shot is given to people who are likely to catch the flu or who would be in danger if they had the flu. This includes older people (over 65), health care workers and people with other health problems. Talk with your doctor about the “flu shot”.

To prevent cold and flu, eat a healthy diet, get lots of sleep and wash your hands a lot.

LETTERS FROM THE READERS

WOW!! I just got the copies of the Deaf Rochester News, and the publication is FANTASTIC, the design is superb, and the whole thing is impressive! I’m still reading all of the great articles! Hugs to all in Rochester! P.S. Yeah, I’m going to subscribe!!

Paulette Caswell,
California, 2nd VP of World Recreation Association of the Deaf, International.

Last time I told all of you the news of my father who is 97 years old. All of a sudden Kathy Kellogg of Rye, NY called Deanna DiVincenzo and asked for Nancy (Kolb) Panasiewicz’s number when she saw the picture and story in the August DRN. Deanna called me and I didn’t recognize her name, but I called her anyway. She said that she is my second cousin from her grandmother Celeste Johnson who was my father’s oldest late sister. Kathy and her husband Neil have a deaf son named Andrew Kellogg who is in his first year at NTID. I was so surprised to hear this. They came to Rochester to see their deaf son, Andrew off to school, so we met for the first time. My daughter Carrie and her family came along and went to the restaurant. We talked for a long time. I haven’t met my second cousin Andrew yet. Kathy and Neil are a very nice couple and can use sign language very well. They will come to Rochester again so we will see Andrew very soon. I can’t wait!

World Class Explorer to Give RSD’s Adventures in Education Lecture

Renaissance explorer Jan Reynolds will be Rochester School for the Deaf’s Adventures in Education speaker on Thursday, October 9 at 7 PM in the school’s auditorium, 1545 St. Paul Street. The 5th annual event is designed to bring world class adventurers to the school and community. Her topic will be “Vanishing Cultures.”

Known around the world as one of today’s most imaginative and successful mountain climbers, skiers, and ballooning explorers, Reynolds has been a member of expeditions in China, Tibet, Nepal, New Zealand and Algerian Sahara. She holds the world record for high altitude skiing.

Also renown as a wilderness photographer, writer and lecturer, her work has appeared in National Geographic, People, Vogue, various ski and outdoor magazines, and in a photographic exhibit at New York’s Asia Society. She is co-author of the book Everest Grand Circle.

“Jan Reynolds brings an array of adventures that will be educational for our students and the Greater Rochester community,” said RSD Superintendent Harold Mowl. “From mountaineering to photography, she has accomplished what few others can claim. Jan is a Renaissance woman in exploration and we’re pleased to share this educational venue with the community.”

A 5 p.m. reception will be followed by the Adventures in Education program at 7 p.m. A book sale featuring her Vanishing Cultures series of seven books will be on sale before and after her presentation. For reservations/tickets, call Adventures in Education Coordinator Gail Boorum at 544-1240 V/TTY.

During the day, Reynolds will visit classrooms and share her experiences with students from preschool through high school. In addition, RSD students will make exhibits related to Reynolds’ many adventures.

Additional TTY Lines Installed at the Group Health Medical Centers

The Group Health Medical Centers have recently installed additional TTY lines to departments that had not previously been accessible by a TTY. These TTY lines will further enhance the services provided to deaf and hard of hearing patients by providing direct access. Prior to the installation of these TTY lines, staff and patients had to use the Relay Service. Group Health Medical Centers staff have received training on communication strategies with deaf and hard of hearing individuals and use of the TTY equipment.

Howard G. Mann, Special Services Coordinator, was instrumental in the implementation of these new TTY lines as part of his responsibility of supporting the commitment the Group Health Medical Centers have made to provide special services to their deaf and hard of hearing patients.

The Group Health Medical Centers provide comprehensive primary medical care, diagnostic and specialty services. In 1989, the Group Health Medical Centers began to provide American Sign Language interpreters, at no additional cost, as well as other services to ensure better communication for deaf and hard of hearing patients. The Group Health Medical Centers believe that the special services offered ensures better communication between patient and doctor; improves the quality and continuity of patient care, and allows deaf and hard of hearing patients to participate more fully in their care.

NTID Performing Arts presents Noel Coward’s comedy Blithe Spirit

What do you get when you combine the inadvertently summoned spirit of a sultry, deceased first wife with a loving, yet jealous, living second wife, a writer, an eccentric clairvoyant, straight-laced houseguests and a dingbat maid? You get the foundation for a fun-filled evening of theatrical entertainment! Just in time for the Halloween season, the National Technical Institute for the Deaf’s (NTID) Performing Arts Program presents Noel Coward’s marvelous award-winning comedy, Blithe Spirit, directed by internationally renowned actor Patrick Graybill.

In the story, Charles and Ruth Condomine are entertaining Dr. & Mrs. Bradman at their house in Kent, England. Charles, a writer, has invited Madame Arcati to hold an after-dinner seance as part of the research he’s doing for his new book. During the seance, Ma-

Open-captioned movies to be shown at Marketplace Cinema 7

Thanks to the concerns and efforts of one very disappointed Deaf movie-goer, the Rochester Deaf Community can see captioned Hollywood movies at a regular movie theatre once again. Blockbuster films will be shown at the Marketplace Cinema 7, located in back of the Bon Ton Department Store, near Sears, on 1100 Miracle Mile Drive, in Marketplace Mall, Henrietta.

When Dr. Robert Menchel, a member of Rochester’s Deaf community, heard that Deaf Artists of America could no longer sponsor the TRIPOD Captioned Films that were being shown at the Little Theatre, he wrote an editorial to the Rochester D&C newspaper, sharing his disappointment. A manager of one of the movie theatres, Ron Barone of Marketplace Cinema, responded to Menchel, asking how he could help. At first, Barone felt that he could obtain captioned films directly from the studio. However, he found out that was not possible so working through his corporation General Cinema, with the power of the corporation behind him, he was able to obtain the latest films through TRIPOD. Never hurts to have a big company in back of you!

The captioned films will be shown one weekend a month. The first showing in September was announced too late to make the previous issue of the Deaf Rochester News magazine. Readers are encouraged to check the local newspapers for showings. Movie ads will appear in the Deaf Rochester News to alert them. (Note: Please see October/November ad on this page.) Since the theatre is located fairly close to students, staff and faculty members at RIT, it is hopeful that more people will attend, and this could eventually lead to more frequent showing times. Cost of evening shows are $7, and Saturday matinees are $4.75. Deaf and hearing friends are encouraged to attend!

This is a critical time for all of us in the Deaf Community. Show your support by attending these open-captioned films so we can see them continued. As Bob Menchel quoted in his letter to the DRN Editor, “If the Deaf community does not support [captioned films at the movie theatre], then they will not continue to provide them and we will lose that. It is time for the deaf community to speak with one voice and demand what they want. I cannot do it all by myself.”

dame Arcati mistakenly calls forth the spirit of Charles’ first wife, Elvira, a beautiful woman bent on mischief. Ruth Condomine is not amused, and is in fact furious. She demands that Madame Arcati get rid of the ghost, but Madame Arcati has no idea how she got Elvira there in the first place. Of course, Charles is the only one who can actually see Elvira, and the misunderstandings that occur between husband and wife (living) because of the conversations between husband and wife (deceased) make for some of the wittiest, most delicious stage antics a theatre-goer could hope for.

Blithe Spirit will be playing at the Robert F Panara Theatre, located on the RIT campus, October 30 - November 1 at 8 p.m., November 2 at 2:30 p.m., and November 7 - 8 at 8 p.m. Tickets are $5 for any full-time student or senior citizen, and $7 for all others. Tickets are available at the NTID Box Office, open weekdays 104, beginning October 20. For reservations or more information, call 475-6254 (V/TTY) or send e-mail to ntidtix@rit.vax

by Wendy Dannels

Reading "Deaf" stories somehow puts more vitamins into DRN readers like me. Enclosed is my "Deaf" story. I hope you enjoy reading it.

Recently, part of an article in the Sunday Buffalo News printed, "She worked as a volunteer in many capacities at St. Mary's School for the Deaf . . ." It was my brothers and sisters who put together this announcement about our mother, Arline Dannels, when she died unexpectedly of an heart attack. During the process of writing the summary, we reviewed her past activities. Obviously, one of her main interests was with the school for the deaf. I had forgotten or one of her achievements since I had left the deaf school setting more than a decade ago. The school was where I had spent a little more than half of my life.

At the funeral, the words about my mother as a heroine for deaf people appeared again after a long absence. My ex-classmates, Tim Conley and Rachel Slike Englet were present at the wake. They told me they thanked my mother for her efforts. I was reminded that my mom helped parents and guardians make sure their deaf children received their fair share of education. Mom encouraged the school not to prepare the students for only the working world, but also to prepare them for higher education. One good example I remember well was when Mom had a discussion with the administration about my taking vocation classes in the second grade. In her opinion, I was too young for these courses, and even worse, vocation classes may have seemed appropriate in the 1940's, but not in the late 1970's.

Another person at the funeral was Mom's best friend, Mrs. June Leffler. She recalled a trip they took together to Washington DC, where they chanced to talk with Senator Edward Kennedy about the deaf education systems. After visiting several deaf school programs, they brought back new ideas for St. Mary's School. June admired Mom for her leadership and efforts.

Another friend from Seattle who had no connection with St. Mary's school, sent her condolences to me, and told stories she remembered about our family. This surprised me because I had met her so few times during my Deaf sports events. I was so grateful that she took the time to share these memories with me over e-mail, and this helps me treasure the good memories of my mom.

The utmost thing I will remember about Mom was her optimism toward handicapped people. When I became deaf at 14 months from spinal meningitis, she did not have much trouble accepting this. During my teen years, Mom heard about the cochlear implants, and was against that idea as she knew I was content with my life. She would not make my deafness an excuse!

We need to remind ourselves daily to perform good deeds while on earth, following the "Great Commission" in our Bible. By providing good services, we can develop great tales and wisdom easily. It is not hazardous to our health, and is definitely fun when we trade good stories with other people.

Get to know your interpreter!

Come and join the fun!

RRCD began hosting "Interpreter Appreciation Nights" last spring. One was held then and one more was held in July. The next one will be October 17, beginning at 7:30 pm.

We hope to host one every two months and hope many D/deaf people, interpreters, and interpreting students will come. It is an evening of getting to know each other, playing games (like Euchre), telling stories, etc. Maybe in the future we would even be able to plan a Euchre tournament or picnics/potlucks. It is fun and we hope all of you will come out for these evenings.

Deaf Women of Rochester

President Mary Mowl

On Friday, September 12, 79 women gathered at Henrietta Memorial Park for their annual kick-off picnic. The highlight of the evening was hearing stories of the successful Deaf Women United conference this summer which was hosted by DWR. The Sapphires softball team who had had a good year, held a raffle and drawing to obtain funds for their tournaments which they are participating in this fall. This was supplemented by a surprise donation from DWR to help with their expenses.

On October 24, Jennifer Gravitz, a Rochester lawyer who is fluent in ASL and has deaf clients, will make a presentation on Women and the Law. Flyers will be mailed out to members about this event. Hope to see a good crowd there!

Genesee Valley Region Registry of Interpreters for the Deaf

President Nancy Berlove

It is the wish of the membership of GVRRID to provide more opportunities to meet with members of the Deaf community and see how we can improve services and communication here in Rochester. Each of the GVRRID meetings will be an open forum. The first one on September 19 was held to determine topics for discussion at subsequent meetings. We extend our invitation to all of you to join in this effort to open communication. The next open forum will be on November 21.

RRCD is making efforts to welcome interpreters to the club. They are sponsoring a regular “Interpreter Night” open to anyone who wishes to socialize at the club.

President Berlove may be reached at nberlove@slc-inc.com (E-mail) for more information about GVRRID meetings or Interpreters Night.

Both GVRRID and RRCD welcome any and all to join in either on-going events. All events will be held at the Rochester Recreation Club for the Deaf, at 1564 Lyell Avenue, Rochester.

Greater Rochester Recreation Association of the Deaf

Thomas Callaghan, Publications Director

Nearly every weekend of October will see at least one activity sponsored by GRRAD. The events are mountain biking, Halloween Masquerade Party, canal cruise, splatball, and GRRAD’s first Adopt-A-Highway cleanup day.

The Halloween Masquerade Party at the Mapledale Party House on Saturday evening October 18, is being co-sponsored by GRRAD and NACR along with the Deaf Consumer Expo group to provide a package of entertainment to the Deaf Consumer Expo attendees from Rochester and abroad. Dinner, music, dancing and costume contest are featured. On Sunday afternoon, October 19, GRRAD will sponsor a three-hour trip on the Erie Canal from Fairport to Pittsford including lock passage and back on Colonial Belle, a great opportunity to view the lovely fall foliage (hopefully at its peak) and to end the fun-filled weekend with an exclamation point. For more information, please contact Art Zubor or Ted Lord (party) and Thomas Callaghan (canal cruise).

After four months of negotiations, discussions and delays, GRRAD at last completed the paperwork with the Department of Transportation on September 13 to participate in the Adopt-A-Highway program. It will be responsible for the 2.2 mile section of Pittsford-Palmyra Road (Rte. 31) from the townline of Pittsford to I-490. Its first cleanup is planned for Sunday, October 26, from 9 AM to 11 AM. Anyone is welcome to volunteer for the cleanup. If you are interested in helping, please contact Robert Fuller or Thomas Callaghan.

GRRAD continues to sponsor its fall tradition: Bills football game day at the Rich Stadium on Sunday, November 2. The popular tailgate party will again be held. The opponent is the nemesis Miami Dolphins. The trip cost is: $42 for GRRAD members or $45 for non-members. Ron Borne is the chair for this event.

GRRAD wishes you a great fall season and looks forward to seeing you in some of its upcoming events.

SPORTS

Rochestereians compete in World Games for the Deaf

The 18th World Games for the Deaf (WGD) met in Copenhagen, Denmark this summer. Deaf athletes from all over the world meet every four years to compete in this event which began with the first Game in Paris in 1924. There are 14 sports in the Summer Games and five in the Winter Games. For this year’s Games, Rochester was well-represented. A contingent of nine Rochester Institute of Technology student, alumni, faculty, and staff athletes now stand on top of the world with 141 of their teammates and an impressive 27 gold, 22 silver, and 26 bronze medals.

RIT athletes who competed were as follows: Matt Hamill, NTID Electromechanical Technology, Gold in 97 kg. Greco-Roman Wrestling, and Gold in 97 kg. Freestyle Wrestling; Jason Jakubowski, NTID Industrial Drafting, placed 5th in the 85 kg. Greco-Roman Wrestling; Chris Majeri, RIT Social Work, USA Soccer team that stunned gold-medal Greece in a 1-1 tie opening match, but were unable to advance in later matches; James Barnum, RIT Electrical Engineering, Silver in the Men's 4x400 meter Relay.; Kristen Rice, RIT Science, Bronze in the Women's 100m Hurdles, placed 4th in Women's Triple Jump, and 5th in Women's 400m Hurdles; Mark Sullivan, RIT Business/Science, Waterpolo, along with NTID Business Occupations Faculty member, Reed Gershwind, Silver; John Macko, staff member at NTID Center on Employment, 5th in Men's Volleyball; and Kris Gray, NTID Alumni ('93) Bronze in Women's Volleyball.

Gershwind, who retired after this year's games after participating in five WGD events, has this to say about the competition, "The recent Games in Copenhagen was a rewarding experience. After participating in five WGDs since 1981, I've decided to retire from competitive sports. I have great memories and met many wonderful friends through the Games. The Water Polo competition was fierce. Many games were decided by one or two goals between teams. We lost the Gold by one goal against Hungary, 9-10. It was disheartening, but we're proud for representing USA and beating rival Italians, 9-7 for the Silver medal."

Summer can be lots of fun, and tiring at times! Friends Karen Fisher, Chuck DiVincenzo, Peter Simpkins, and Dawn Drees could not resist teasing Elissa Olsen who was “recovering” from a very hectic Deaf Women United Conference held earlier at the Rochester Hyatt Hotel where she had served as Treasurer. Around 30 people camped out at Fish Creek Pond near Lake Placid in August, which was one of many camping weekends Rochesterians partook during the summer.

Whale-watching was a highlight for Paul and Sally Taylor who spent a rainy day on a whalewatch boat in Puget Sound in Washington State with their family. They spent a week in August at Orcas Island in the San Juans at a rented cabin, and saw whales, porpoises and sea lions at play from their deck or while kayaking. The family reunion consisted of four generations, ranging from Sally and her parents, Paul and his mother, their three children with two spouses and a friend, and a five-month-old granddaughter.

“Get ‘em while they’re young!” is the motto for a class that was offered in Finger Spelling and Sign Language for the first time to children ages 10-12 at the Greece Schools Community Education Department. These young kids in the photo explored a different language this summer so they could “share secrets” with their friends. The class was taught by Salvatore Parlato from the Rochester Deaf community, who is proud to show off his students.

Congratulations, Blue Ribbons Winner!! A very surprised Onalee Cooper is seen here standing by her three art pieces she submitted at the New York State Fair in Syracuse in August. She won a blue ribbon for each piece! The first piece is a queen-size quilt with a Bargello pattern in yellow, orange and brown colors. Her second one was an unfinished quilt in a beautiful Cathedral Window pattern of varied colors. The third was a cross-stitch portrait of “Spirit Dancer” complete with glass beads, stones, leather fringe and silver threads. Onalee, who is 100% Tuscarora Indian, participated in the fair for the first time after being encouraged by her niece, Tracy, to show off her beautiful pieces. She made the Bargello quilt for an auction to be held at the Tuscarora Indian Reservation Community Fair in Lewiston, N.Y. this October, with proceeds to go to the Indian College Fund. For interested readers, when you go to Niagara Falls, look for a statue of her father, “Chief Loud Voice” located at Prospect Park in Niagara Falls, NY.

Proud Mom Terri Harrison sent in this photo of her daughter, Melinda, a recent graduate of RSD. Melinda was the recipient of a Deaf Women of Rochester award that recognized her leadership qualities as a high school graduate. This fall, she is attending Gallaudet University, with plans to become a high school English teacher.

Former Rochesterians, Frank and Janet DiVincenzo, made their annual trek to Rochester to visit old friends. Frank’s godson, Joel, son of Nancy Panasiewicz, seen standing between Janet and Frank, hosted a Pig Roast on Joel’s five-acre farm in Pavilion, NY, along with Nancy’s other children, Carrie, James, John, and their families. This event, held in August, was well-attended by 160 deaf and hearing friends who feasted on a roast pig, delicious dishes brought by them, and concluded with a fun hay-ride. Nancy was thrilled and wants to thank everyone who attended.

OBITUARY

Earl Lake
(1920-1997)

The Rochester community lost a valuable member through the death of Earl George Lake on Sunday, August 3, 1997. Earl, or “Billy” as he was called by his close friends, was a familiar face around the Rochester Deaf Community, and a man of many talents...a skilled tool & die maker, an educator, mentor, Deaf advocate, wood carver, and story teller. He was a familiar figure at the Rochester Recreation Club of the Deaf (RRCD), which he helped found in 1945, and would be seen sitting at the bar he helped design when the clubhouse moved to its present location.

Billy attended RSD from 1927 to 1941, and then worked as a journeyman, a top man in tool and die making, for thirty-three years at various companies in Rochester. His longest stint was at Bastion Brothers Company as a journeyman for twenty-two years. He had a mid-career change and became an instructor and assistant professor at NTID in the Manufacturing Process program. He retired in 1986 after twelve years of teaching. For the next eleven years, he stayed active, serving as Public Relations Director for the DEAR organization, and acting as liaison between hearing and deaf organizations. He was 75 years old at the time of his death.

He is survived by his wife, Margaret (Boyle) Lake, sons, Donald and Fred Lake; 7 step children; mother-in-law, Marion Boyle; 2 brothers; 2 sisters; brother-in-law, and a sister-in-law; 3 grandchildren; 15 step grandchildren; 2 step great grandchildren; several nieces and nephews. Interment was at Mount Hope Cemetery.

Contributions may be made in Billy’s memory to the National Technical Institute for the Deaf, PO Box 9887, Rochester, NY 14623-0887.
